MISSOULA--

Graduating seniors in the University of Montana pre-physical therapy program and another student in the program who are award recipients for 1973 were honored at the annual UM Pre-Physical Therapy Banquet Tuesday (May 15).

Two graduating seniors each received a copy of "Gray's Anatomy" from Miss Nora Staael, an assistant professor of health, physical education and recreation at UM who teaches pre-physical therapy courses. Recipients of the professional achievement awards for 1973 are Mary Josephine Stephens, Great Falls, and Timothy J. Ragen, Townsend. "Gray's Anatomy" / is a technical anatomy manual.

Ragen also received the $50 scholarship made available by Bill Moody of Health Aid Pharmacy, Missoula, to the graduating senior who has been accepted into a physical therapy school for the next academic year. Ragen will attend the Stanford University Division of Physical Therapy, School of Medicine, Stanford, Calif., this fall.
